MITCHELL

MEETS BAER

He Believes That the Joint Committee Should Meet Again

GRAVITY OF THE CASE

Thoroughly Understood by the Miners Who Also Believe Their Scale is Just.

DISAPPOINTMENT IS VERY KEEN.

Indianapolis, March 19th.—President John Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, has mailed George F. Baer, chairman of the Anthracite Coal Operators' committee, his reply to the committee's communication rejecting the demands of the miners' organization. The letter follows:

"Indianapolis, March 17th, 1906.
"Mr. George F. Baer, chairman, Philadelphia.

"Dear Sir: Referring again to your communication dated March 10th, with accompanying documents and to our reply thereto, I write to say that I have submitted to our committee the answer made by your committee to the propositions presented by us. It is unnecessary to state that we were deeply disappointed to learn that our demands were rejected in toto, and that our argument in favor of them had received so little consideration at your hands that they were practically ignored in your reply to us.

"We have again reviewed the scale presented for your consideration; have compared it with the scale of wages paid for similar classes of labor in other coal producing states and districts and we are satisfied beyond the peradventure of doubt that the wages proposed are not in excess of indeed, that they are not so high as the wages paid in the bituminous mining districts of our country.

THINK THEY'RE MISUNDERSTOOD.

"Judging from the language employed in your answer to us, it is perfectly evident that we failed to make clear or that you failed to understand the real import of the propositions submitted by us.

"We wish to assure you that we are not unmindful of the great public interests involved in this controversy as to our future relations, neither are we unappreciative of the splendid efforts made by the Anthracite Coal Strike commission to establish a relationship between us that would insure a just and permanent peace; but, if you will refer to the award of that commission itself was in doubt as to the permanency of its findings and expressed the hope that at the expiration of the award the relations of operator and employees would have so far improved as to make impossible such a condition as existed throughout the country in consequence of the strike in the anthracite region.

"We had entertained the hope that our adherence to the letter and the spirit of the award and the absence of local or general strike during the past three years would have appealed more strongly to our confidence and that we might reasonably expect serious consideration of our claims at the time.

A Valley Freight Wreck Delays Passenger Train

A bad freight smash-up occurred just below Curtin station on the B. E. V. railroad Thursday evening, causing the passengers who were going east on the 8:16 train a great deal of annoyance and discomfort.

An eastbound freight which was running ahead of the passenger met with a mishap while going at a high rate of speed and a number of cars were piled up. No one was hurt but the track was torn up for some distance.

An engine and coach from Lock Haven were sent to the scene of action and the passengers were transferred. They were compelled to wade through the deep snow the entire length of the long freight train and the walk was not a pleasant one, especially for the women. The tracks were cleared by Friday morning and traffic was resumed.

TROUT FISHING.

The Patient Angler Becoming Impatient for Season's Opening.

Although the ground is now covered with snow, the trout fisherman is thinking of the babbling brooks, in the limpid depths of which lie the speckled beauties, waiting for the tempting bait, and the grand mountain landscape melting into spring, and the fever will be in his veins with a burning force when the cold, March winds have ceased and the bland month of April comes with its warm sunshine and showers, making him full of impatience for the 15th of April. He, therefore, has to be content with looking over his tackle, recalling fond memories and looking forward to more long tramps with rod, reel and creel, along the purring streams, where he has spent so many pleasant hours angling for the wily trout.

There is every reason to believe that trout fishing will be exceptionally good this year in Centre county. The mountain brooks have been largely restricted during the past several years and closely protected from unprincipled fishermen, and the present mild winter has been greatly favorable to these fish, which spawn in the month of January. There has been plenty of water in the brooks all winter and very little ice and reports come from many sections that there are lots of trout in the streams. If such is the case there will be some very good sport in this line at the opening of the season if the weather is favorable for trout fishing.

Mrs. Mariah Slabig.

At the advanced age of eighty six years five months and fourteen days, the death of Mrs. Mariah Slabig occurred at her home near Potters Mills, Wednesday morning, of pneumonia. Interment took place Saturday afternoon. She was the widow of Jacob Slabig, and is survived by the following children:—

Mrs. James Durt, Potters Mills; Mrs. Joseph Deviney, Reedsville; Miss Jane and Howard, at home. Mrs. Andrew Immiel, Troy, Ohio, is deceased.

Asks County to Build Old Pike.

The Potter township supervisors, elected under the new road law, at a recent meeting decided that the township would spend none of its money in maintaining the condemned turn pikes that traverse the township, but will ask the commissioners of Centre county to keep these important thoroughfares in fit condition. The one pike extends from the borough line south to the Mifflin county line. The other begins at Old Fort and goes eastward to the Gregg township line.

BLACK HAND

MOVEMENT

Two Italians Arrested in Scranton and Held in Heavy Bail.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE

One Thousand and Fourteen Killed, Six Hundred and Thirty-five Injured Over Fourteen Hundred Houses Destroyed.

PREMIER WITTE HAS RESIGNED.

London, March 20th.—A dispatch from Tokyo to the Daily Telegraph says:

"Advices from Taihoku (capital of Formosa) state that the earthquake on that island was more serious than at first reported. In the prefecture of Kagi alone 1,400 houses were completely destroyed, 1,014 persons killed and 695 injured."

The war department has issued the following:

"One half of Kagi has been destroyed. The garrison were marched outside, where they are now camping. All the soldiers are safe. We are sending them to Tainan. Transportation between Kagi and Toroku has stopped."

BLACK HAND MOVEMENT.

Scranton, Pa., March 20th.—Special Agents Robert Wilson and T. F. Ruffing, of the Municipal league, Monday afternoon arrested two Italians who are believed to be the leaders of the "Black Hand" movement in this section of the state. They are Paul Trapi and Giuseppe Cogliano. They were led into a trap and were caught in the act of receiving money from Giovanni Fazio, a grocer, under threats of violence. The detectives were in another room and were watching through holes cut in a door. Fazio's store, which is in the heart of the city, was blown up with dynamite on New Year's eve. He positively identified both Trapi and Cogliano as the men who had threatened him before the explosion. An idea of their boldness may be gleaned from the fact that they have since had the nerve to visit him in his place of business and demand money. The police had been working on the case for three months without success. Both prisoners were given a hearing and were committed to jail by Magistrate Kesson in default of $5,000 bail each.

MR. WITTE RESIGNS.

St. Petersburg, March 20th.—It is rumored in official circles that at a session of the Council of the Empire today Premier Witte tendered his resignation and suggested that Privy Councillor Kokovsov, former Minister of Finance, be appointed as his successor.

The reason Count Witte gave for his resignation was that he is seriously ill with heart disease having had an attack yesterday.

If his resignation is accepted by Emperor Nicholas, Count Witte intends to leave Russia and have the disease treated.

An Enjoyable Evening.

"The Mary Ann Johnson Concert Co." who gave a birthday party Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Johnson, on Linn Street, proved a decided success, both socially and financially. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, the house was well filled with guests coming to pay honor to the hospitable hostess, as well as to the renowned Concert Co. Music was the chief entertainment, followed by delicious refreshments which were served most bountifully by jovial young ladies. The Society realized about $90.00.

—Valentine E. Tyler, under arrest at Chester, Pa., for bigamy, attempted to commit suicide by opening an artery in his wrist with a piece of glass.

—The postoffice appropriation bill reported to the house provides for an expenditure of $191,373, 848 for the fiscal year 1907, an increase of $19,351, 755.

—Mrs. Harriet L. Kurtz has presented to the Academy sixty-eight valuable volumes of books belonging to her late husband, John L. Kurtz, which were gratefully received by Prof. Hughes and his co-workers. Is there not another friend who can be generous and follow with a similar gift to the Academy library, as that institution is sadly in need of good reading matter.

HON. W. C. ARNOLD DEAD.

Man Who Served in Congress Eight Years Expires in Michigan.

Word was received in Bellefonte Tuesday night of the sudden death of William C. Arnold, of DuBois, at Muskegon, Mich., where he went recently on business.

Mr. Arnold was born in Clearfield county in 1851, and except for a brief stay in South Dakota, lived in the county all his life. He was a lawyer by profession, having been admitted to the bar in 1875, but in the course of an active career was more or less deeply engaged in banking and the coal and lumber industries.

He was a Republican and served in Congress from 1895 to 1899, and eight years ago was considered as a possibility for the gubernatorial nomination. He made a record in carrying the old Twenty-eighth Congressional District twice, for prior to 1894 it had been Democratic by 4000.

He was married to Miss Jennie P. Irvin in 1874, and four children, all surviving, were born of the union. Mrs. Arnold died suddenly in 1897.

Obituary.

Died at her home at Unionville March 8, Miss Minnie Lipton, aged a little past 42 years.

Miss Minnie had been a constant sufferer for a number of years and for three years had not been away from her home and yet to visit her, you would find her always bright, cheerful and apparently happy, never complaining of her lot, but always ready to say: "I am thankful that I am as well as I am."

She was a faithful church member and regular in her attendance at its services, while her strength permitted her to do so.

She was also a Sabbath school worker and her class of young boys, to whom she was devoted, were much attached to her. And when the time came that she could no longer go out to Sunday school she was much missed. She was exceedingly fond of the beautiful, and much of her time was spent in the cultivation of flowers.

She seemed to throw off the mortal and pass to the immortal, yet was willing to wait God's own time, to relieve her and was rejoiced when she knew the time drew near and God said, "It is enough, come up higher."

For about two weeks previous to her death she suffered intensely and tried every way to keep from lamenting or letting those about her know of her suffering and then made the remark: "I am afraid I have not been a very patient sufferer."

She was endeared to all her friends, and will be sadly missed, yet they are resigned and willing for her own sake to give her up, knowing that she is now enjoying the reward that awaits for God's faithful.

Our hearts sometimes yearn for a glimpse of the dear departed ones and yet we should not have them come again; it is indeed for ourselves that we mourn after all. Oh what a glorious change for one like this who has suffered and endured for Christ's sake, to enter into His presence and enjoy perfect rest and peace. Is it not worth our enduring all that this fleeting life brings to bear upon us with fortitude to gain this for eternity? Earth has too rudely pressed this frail, tender plant of Gods and so the life the sweet fragrance went out, not lost, but in His own care and keeping where the pure sunshine of His presence and the balmy atmosphere of Heaven are more adapted to such flowers.

Her funeral services were conducted by Rev. Bergen, assisted by Rev. Piper in the Presbyterian church. Many of her friends followed the remains. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers, tributes from her friends.

Centre County Sabbath School Association.

Will the Sunday School workers of Centre county please note that arrangements are being made for the holding of our Thirty-Seventh Annual Convention at Howard, on May 31st and June 1st? All of the schools and churches of Howard have heartily united in inviting us to hold the convention with them and are eagerly looking forward to our coming. The program is in course of preparation, and all indications point to the best convention yet held. In a few days a circular letter and the statistical blank will be mailed to the superintendents of our 165 schools. Please see that these are promptly presented to your school's.

TROOPS DESERVE

BANDS OF OUTLAWS

Says The Attack Was Not Ordered Until Every Resource Looking to Adjustment Had Been Exhausted.

THERE WAS NO WANTON MURDER.

Washington, March 21.—Secretary Taft has received the following cablegram from Governor General Ide, at Manila, dated Tuesday, relative to the Mount Dajo fight:

"Newspaper reports from Manila announcing wanton slaughter of women and children at Mount Dajo extremely sensational, and in all essential details false. The situation occupied by the Moro outlaws on the crater of the volcano, 2,100 feet high, was exceedingly difficult and required great display of heroism on the part of the army, navy and Filipino and Moro constabulary, who rendered most valued service. Some women and children were killed or wounded by preliminary shelling at a distance. The Moros were outlaws or fanatics and refused to surrender to the last, attempting repeatedly to murder our forces who were rescuing wounded Moros.

"Moro Snitan and leading Dattos rendered great assistance, and the surrounding population is in great sympathy with the course taken to remove the gang of cutthroats who were preying upon the community, retreating as occasion required to what they supposed to be impenetrable fastnesses.

"There was no killing of any one except such as was indispensable to end a tolerable situation. Attack not ordered until every resource looking to possible adjustment exhausted. Troops and officers deserving of praise."

Secretary Taft also has made public an exhaustive report from Major Hugh L. Scott, who was Governor of the Moro provinces just preceding the engagement, respecting the habits of warfare of those people, and justifying the attack by the American troops.

MT. DAJO FIGHT JUSTIFIED.

Washington, March 21.—The Post Tuesday prints an interview with Major Hugh L. Scott regarding the recent Mount Dajo fight on Jolo Island, in which it has been charged there was wanton killing of women and children. Major Scott is the officer who General Wood suggested be called upon if more information is wanted by the War Department than that furnished in his dispatches. Major Scott said:

"The Mount Dajo fight is nothing more than the proper chastisement of a band of outlaws, whose resistance to the authority of the United States and their own chiefs never at any time rose to the dignity of a national or racial issue. I can speak from experience, for I have spent eight months trying to get the Moros to settle down. They are simply an outlaw band completely destitute of religious, racial or political significance, and I know the people of the southern islands are more than glad that these midnight marauders are at last put out of business.

A Slick Swindler.

A slick stranger succeed in swindling Messrs. Reading & Reading, the Williamsport coal dealers, out of nearly $20 a few days ago by passing on them a check for $25 which subsequently proved to be forgery, says the Sun. He walked in hurriedly and asked that a ton of coal be sent to a certain address, and offered a check purporting to be signed by W. D. Crooks, for the above amount, in payment. The transaction had a harmless and perfectly safe appearance as the delivery of the coal indicated a more or less permanent residence, so the request found a ready acquiescence. But another person lived at the address given. The check proved to be a bold forgery, and the difference between the price of the coal and the face of the check a loss to the dealers. The stranger has not yet been apprehended.

ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE.

Of Superintendents and Principals of Central Pennsylvania.

Every person in Bellefonte and vicinity who is interested in the public schools should attend the Friday evening meeting of the Round Table conference of superintendents and principals of Central Pennsylvania which meets here next Friday and Saturday. There will be two talks and a discussion on manual training, a subject which is just now engaging the attention of educators all over the country. Many superintendents and principals of the district have notified Superintendent Meyer that they will attend and with a good attendance assured the meeting of the conference cannot help but be interesting. The district is composed of the counties of Blair, Clearfield, Centre, Mifflin, Huntingdon, Union, Lycoming and Clinton.

Teachers, directors, parents, and all others who are interested in the cause of education are most cordially invited to attend the conference and take an active part in the discussions of the subjects on the program. The discussions are entirely informal—no set talks or papers—thus giving every person present an opportunity to take part.

Come for the Friday evening session, and be with us all day Saturday.

Floyd—Bickford.

The many friends in Bellefonte of Miss Blanche Bickford of Lock Haven will read with pleasure the following notice of her wedding taken from Monday's Lock Haven Express. Miss Bickford is well known in Bellefonte having frequently visited at the home of her uncle, L. A. Schaeffer and S. D. Ray.

"A romance in high life which created quite a stir when the facts became known was consummated in this city on Saturday and before the news leaked out, the principals were far away, headed toward the Rocky mountain regions.

We refer to the marriage of John W. C. Floyd and Miss Blanche Bickford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Bickford, and the wedding is not the only surprise, for Mr. Floyd has sold out his business here to Henry W. Swopes, who has been his capable assistant ever since he first came to Lock Haven.

The principals in this highly romantic episode were very shy and very few of their friends knew that any but a stern business relation existed between them. Miss Bickford had been employed as a retoucher by Mr. Floyd for a number of years but Cupid was not idle and while negatives were being retouched he was doing some positive work. Miss Bickford's health has been somewhat impaired for several months and Mr. Floyd decided to take her to a more invigorating climate, Pueblo, Colo., was selected as their destination and all plans were very quietly made.

At 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. H. R. Bender performed the solemn ceremony that made them man and wife. There were no witnesses except the members of the bride's family. A wedding dinner was served after the ceremony and at 3:45 Mr. and Mrs. Floyd boarded the Bald Eagle Valley train to begin their long journey to Pueblo, Colo. Mr. Floyd expects to locate permanently in Pueblo or some other city in Colorado, although he was not certain as to what business he will go into.

Fire at Mill Hall.

The old tollgate house, above Mill Hall near the axe factory, was totally destroyed by fire Thursday night of last week. The fire broke out about half past one o'clock, and the building and contents were quickly reduced to ashes. The origin of the fire is not known as the house has not been inhabited for the past two months. Charles Kammediner had his household goods in it, and up to the time above mentioned, lived there. The house was owned by Sidney Farst, Reg., of Lock Haven, and carried an insurance of $300 in the Gearhart and Bentley agency. The strangest part of the burning of it is, that it burned without anybody in town having any knowledge of the fire. There was an insurance of $300 on the furniture, held by A. W. McCormick agency.

Carnegie Gives Another Library.

Atlanta, Ga., March 19.—Professor K. G. Mathewson, acting president of the Georgia School of Technology, announced that Andrew Carnegie had agreed to give the school $20,000 for the erection of a library building, provided the school will furnish $2000 annually for the maintenance and support of the library. The gift will be accepted.

TWENTY-EIGHT SAVED

The Phoenix Line Steamer British King
Founders at Sea.

HOLE TORN IN HULL

By Wreckage Which Had Been Thrown
Back By Waves During a Violent

RESCUE WORK WAS PERILOUS.

Boston, March 15.—The Phoenix line steamer British King foundered at sea last Sunday and only 28 out of the 56 on board are known to have been saved. News of the disaster was brought to this port Wednesday by the Leyland line steamer Bostonian from Manchester. The British King was bound for Antwerp from New York.

The British King went down at about 6 o'clock Sunday morning in latitude 41.40 north, longitude 60 11 west.

The disaster was caused by barrels of oil and other wreckage which had been washed overboard in a violent storm being thrown back against the hull by the waves until an aperture was made through which the water entered.

The Bostonian had on board only 17 of the survivors. The 11 others known to have escaped were picked up by the German tank steamer Manheim, Hamburg, for New York.

The survivors on the Bostonian say that there is little doubt that the 28 missing persons perished.

Among the missing was Captain James O'Hagan, of the British King, but he died later on board the Bostonian from the effects of injuries. Among the others rescued by the Bostonian was Thomas Flanagan, the second officer; J. D. Crawford, the chief engineer; Apolpous Beck, the fourth engineer, and William J. Curry, the steward.

The rescue work of the Manheim and the Bostonian was effected by the risk of the lives of the rescuers. The first boat launched by the Bostonian was crushed to pieces in the sea and the boat's crew was saved with difficulty. The second boat was at once launched and the crew on this succeeded in taking off thirteen men from the sinking steamer including Capt. O'Hagan. After the sailors had been placed on the Bostonian this life boat, too, was smashed and the crew, like the other was in grave danger, but eventually all were taken from the water.

The five others rescued by the Bostonian were removed from a piece of wreckage to which they were found clinging, by a boat's crew from the Bostonian, after the British King had gone down. These five included Second Officer Flanagan, Chief Engineer Crawford, Fourth Engineer Beck and two cabinmen.

The British King was lost near Sable Island in one of the fiercest storms ever seen by the sailors.

The rescue of 11 of the crew of the British King by the seamer Manheim was equally thrilling and fraught with as great peril as that performed by the men from the Bostonian.

There were no passengers on board the British King.

After the 13 men had been taken off by the Bostonian darkness set in and it was necessary to postpone further work of rescue on account of high seas until the rising of the moon. Before the moon shone, however, the British King went to the bottom and in the opinion of the rescuers 28 persons went down with her. The fact that the lack was not discovered for many hours was the immediate cause of the ship's loss.

The British King left New York last Tuesday. She carried a general cargo and 150 heads of cattle.

The steamer British King was built at New Castle in 1891. She registered 3,471 tons gross and 3,042 tons net. Her dimensions were 405 feet long, 47.9 feet beam and 27.9 feet depth of hold. She was owned by the British Ship-owners company (Ltd.) of Liverpool.

Nil Nisi Bonum.

Last summer they died at Washington a lawyer who, for many years, had shocked a large number of friends by his rather liberal views touching religion.

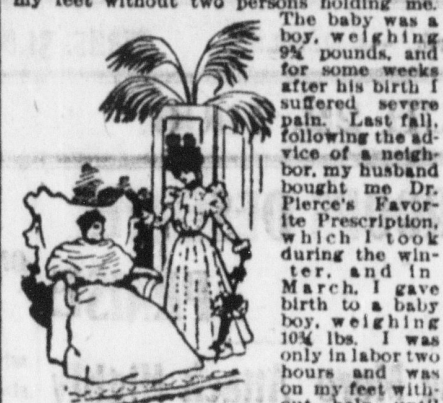

A friend of the deceased who cut short a Canadian trip to hurry back to Washington for the purpose of attending the last rites for his colleague, entered the late lawyer's home some minutes after the beginning of the service.

"What part of the service is this?" he inquired in a whisper of another legal friend standing in the crowded hallway.

"I've just come myself," said the other, "but I believe they've opened for the defence."—Harper's Weekly.

"What a difference in the suffering at time of childbirth when Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicines are used," writes Mrs. Edmon Jacobs, of Bangorville, Johnson Co., Ind. "I had not heard of Dr. Pierce's medicines three years ago when I was confined, so had to suffer almost death. Before baby was born I could not be on my feet without two persons holding me."

"The advice of a neighbor."

The baby was a boy, weighing 9½ pounds, and for some weeks after his birth I suffered severe pain. Last fall, following the advice of a neighbor, my husband bought me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I took during the winter, and in March I gave birth to a baby boy, weighing 10½ lbs. I was only in labor two hours and was on my feet within thirty minutes. Before baby was born, he is now three months old and weighs 19 lbs. I know it was Dr. Pierce's medicine that saved me from suffering. I advise every woman to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, also his 'Pleasant Pellets,' if necessary.

A COSTA RICAN VOLCANO.

Pen Picture of Poas and Its Dangerous Surroundings.

On the island of Costa Rica is the remarkable volcano of Poas. The crater has an altitude of about 8,500 feet. The traveler who makes the ascent on reaching the lip of the crater finds himself at the brink of a vast perpendicular sided pit, at the bottom of which lies a motionless pool of yellowish water. The sense of deadly stillness and desolation is undisturbed by any indication of life. The almost vertical walls are devoid of even a vestige of plant creation; not a bird wings its way through the air, the surface of the pool is without a ripple, and even the human voice sounds strange and incongruous. Suddenly the silence is broken by a great and startling underground rumbling, and a huge column of a dark colored liquid is thrown to a vast height from a spot near the center of the lake. The column ordinarily rises to a height varying from 250 to 500 feet. Almost instantly a vast cloud of vapor is evolved which surrounds the column and rises to an immense height.

A thousand feet below the lip is the lake of pools, among the success or water it is necessary to move about with care because of numerous concealed holes filled with a slimy substance, consisting mainly of sulphate of lime with a large excess of sulphuric acid. This hardens in a few moments when exposed to the air, and consequently the pits are covered with slight shells that render it almost impossible to distinguish between them and solid ground. If a foot goes through this thin crust it will be found that in a few days the shoe will be destroyed, as the seams cannot resist the acid action. The lake at closer view is discovered to be covered with clouds of vapor and it is impossible to see for any distance. Among other gases, sulphur dioxide is present in considerable quantities, and at times the smell becomes almost unbearable.

At close range the water is grayish in color, and it is so acid that it almost burns the tongue when tasted. Any dark cloth moistened with the liquid instantly becomes red and is ultimately destroyed. The temperature at the shore, while varying considerably, ranges around 115 degrees F. During one of the greatest eruptions known a tremendous column of dark liquid rose to an estimated height of 2,000 feet and was about 300 feet in diameter. The waves produced on the lake by such an outburst are formidable, and long after the eruption has ceased the whole crater is filled with the roar of the troubled waters.—Chicago News.

HAIR AND BEARDS.

They Have Played Important Parts in the World's History.

In centuries past the human hair played an important part in all judicial proceedings. Those that were permitted to wear beard and hair had rights that could not be claimed by the shorn and shaved. When men made oath they touched their beard and hair, and women placed the finger tips of the right hand on their tresses.

Servants were obliged to have their hair cut, and if a freedman went into slavery he had to divest himself of his hair adornments. An adult adopted by foster parents was obliged to have his beard shaved, and the shaving inflicted on criminals. The jurisprudence of our ancestors dealt with punishment "by skin and hair" for small offenses and "by neck and hand" for greater crimes.

There has always been more or less superstition about hair. Great strength was implied by it, and wizards and witches knew of concoctions of hair by which they poisoned enemies. Cat's hair was especially named in the category of poisonous hairs, and even at the beginning of the seventeenth century Paulus Zacchias, a famous physician, writes of the virulent poison of the hair of cats.

Among civilized people such superstitious beliefs have gone out of existence, and only Malays give their enemies tiger hairs in order to kill them.

Thackeray's Apology.

Thackeray once wrote in a note to a friend, alluding to an incident occasioned by one of his articles in Punch: "I thought over the confounded matter in the railroad and wrote instantly on arriving here a letter of contrition and apology to Henry Taylor for having made what I see now was a flippant and offensive allusion to Mrs. Taylor. I am glad I have done it. I am glad that so many people whom I have been thinking bigoted and unfair and unjust toward me have been right and that I have been wrong, and my mind is an immense deal easier."

A Great Idea.

"My new play is sure to make a hit," said the great actress. "It gives me an opportunity to display twenty new gowns."

"Gracious!" exclaimed her friend. "How many acts?"

German Care of Landscapes.

Most German states have laws to prevent the disfigurement of landscapes by advertisements. The district authorities are authorized to determine what landscapes, buildings or monuments of historical or artistic value should be protected. Violations of the statute are made punishable by fine, with or without imprisonment. The statute provides against the display of pictures, advertisements or other things calculated to mar or disfigure any especially attractive landscape or detract from the artistic or aesthetic effect of any building or other structure of special importance or as highly prejudicial to any street or part of a city. The alteration of buildings of historical or artistic value may be prohibited by the local authorities, as may the construction of other buildings calculated to injure the landscape.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

As Is—

In these days when fresh air and pure water are recommended to cure everything from consumption to a broken leg, the following advice on how to kill a child that is ill with pneumonia is interesting:

Have a crib in the far corner of the room with a canopy over it. Steam kettle, gas stove (leaky tubine), room at 80 degrees Fahrenheit, many gas jets burning, friends in the room, also the puzzle; chest tightly enveloped in waistcoat polities. If child's temperature is 105 degrees Fahrenheit makes a poultice thick, hot and tight. Blanket the window, shut the doors. If these do not do it, give coal tar antipyrines and wait."

The Boy Fooled Them.

There is a good story told of a man who has become one of our most successful merchants. A few years ago he was employed as an office boy and messenger for a large firm. He was sent to collect an account from a firm which was considered very "shaky," and was told to get the money at all hazards. The debtors gave the lad a check for $250. He went to the bank at once to cash it, and was told by the cashier that there was not enough funds in to meet it.

"How much short?" asked the lad.

"Seven dollars," was the answer.

It lacked but a minute or two of the time for the bank to close. The boy felt in his pockets, took out $7, and, pushing it through the window, said, "Put that to the credit of Blank & Co."

The cashier did so, whereupon the boy presented the check and got the money. Blank & Co. failed the next day, and their chair can be better imagined than described when they found out the trick that had been played upon them.—Popular Magazine.

The average American citizen knows that the Liberty Bell was rung to announce the accomplishment of American Independence, but he probably never heard the name of the man who did the ringing. The Daughters of the American Revolution recently discovered the location of his grave in Philadelphia, and are about to ornament it with a fitting monument.

The ringer's name was William Hurrey. His only title to fame consists in the performance of his duty on that Fourth of July when the last signer had affixed his name to the Declaration of Independence. It may be that he had no thought of the mighty results which were to flow from the action which the clamor of the Liberty Bell announced. But because he had an humble share in that event posterity seeks his grave and prepares to rear a monument to his memory.

The News congratulates the chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution having this matter in charge. It is well to keep green the memory of every man who was in any way connected with the preliminary events which culminated in the birth of our great Republic. It will stimulate patriotism among the rising generation and inspire the boys and girls of today with a keener appreciation of the rewards of duty faithfully done.

THE AMBER HARVEST.

Work of the Waders and the Divers of the Baltic Sea.

The poor people who earn a precarious livelihood by gathering amber on the shores of the Baltic sea work only in the roughest weather. When the wind blows in from the sea, as it often does with terrific violence, the bowlders are tossed and tumbled at the bottom and great quantities of sea wrack are washed up on the beach. This is the harvest of the waders, for hidden in the roots and branches of the seaweed lumps of the precious gum may be found.

In other parts of the coast divers go crawling on the bottom of the sea for the lumps of amber hidden in seaweed and under rocks. It is believed that once a great pine forest flourished here where the great billows roll and that amber is the gum exuded from the trees, of which not a vestige remains.

The finds are very variable. The largest piece known, weighing eighteen pounds, is in the Royal museum in Berlin. The usual finds range from lumps as big as a man's head to particles like grains of sand. The larger pieces are found jammed in rocks or in tangles of marine vegetation. Divers work from four to five hours a day in all seasons, except when the sea is blocked with ice. The work is so arduous that they are bathed in perspiration even in the coldest weather. For all their grinding toil the Samland natives are happy in their way and increase and multiply as in more favored regions of the earth.

Heart Burials.

The body of Louis IX., after his death at Carthage in 1270, is related to have been boiled in wine and water in order to preserve it for transportation, and it was then shipped by Charles of Anjou (L.) to Sicily. Here the flesh and viscera were deposited in the Benedictine Abbey of Monreale, near Palermo. The heart and the bones remained, by desire of the soldiers, in the camp. Later his son Philip (Le Hardi) having carried them and those of his brother, Tristan, into Italy, they were taken to Paris in 1271. On March 21 of that year the bones, reduced to ashes, were deposited temporarily in Notre Dame, whence they were presently borne in state to the Benedictine Abbey of St. Denis, and at each spot by the way where the bearers paused, seven in number, Philip subsequently caused a cross to be raised.

Charles of Anjou dying at Foggia, 1285, his heart was sent to Angers, while his body was entombed in San Gennaro, at Naples. His viscera remained in the Duomo at Foggia.

Philip III. (Le Hardi) died of pestilence at Perpignan Oct. 5, 1285. His flesh was buried at Narbonne. His bones were transferred to St. Denis. His heart was given by Philip IV. (Le Bel) to the Dominicans of Paris.—London Notes and Queries.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, disorganizes and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Dime Building, N. Y., be sure and mention this ad.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Bing hampton, N. Y., on every bottle.

What a Girl Can do for Her Mother.

Suppose we start with how she can help with the housework and care of the younger children.

For years the mother has had the entire charge of both, and it is time she was relieved.

Patiently and uncomplainingly she has drudged along with no thought but for her children's welfare and comfort.

It should be the daughter's joy as well as duty, to bring a little recreation and pleasure into her mother's life.

Remember, girls, that all your lives your mothers have been sacrificing themselves for you.

Now you have a chance to reverse things.

Your shoulders are young and strong; help lift the burden a little from the tired shoulders that have borne it so long.

Let her see that you appreciate all that she has done for you.

Take the heaviest part of the housework off her hands.

Send her out to enjoy herself while you look after the children.

Of course you cannot do this every day, but you can do your share of it.

If you are a business woman you cannot do much of this sort of thing, but there are many little pleasures you can give her.

Something pretty to wear will please her. She is a woman, you know, and likes pretty things as well as you do.

Confide in her and tell her your hopes and ambitions. She is better than all the girl friends in the world and will never tell your secrets.

The trouble about mothers is that we get so used to them that we don't half appreciate them until we lose them.

Then quickly enough we realize what all that divine care and tenderness meant.

Girls, before it is too late, make the most of your mothers.

No matter how much you do you can't begin to return all they have done for you, but do the best you can.

A little love and petting is always appreciated by mothers; try it with yours and see if she doesn't thrive under it.

As for the girls who talk and act disrespectfully toward their mothers, for them no criticism is too harsh.

The prettiest girl in the world is absolutely devoid of charm if she is impertinent to her mother.

Begin today, girls, and save your mothers all the worries you can; show them all the consideration you can, and give them all the love you can.

Additional Locals.

—Rev. C. C. Bingham of Ranville will preach in the U. B. church Sunday morning and evening, March 25, 1906. All are cordially invited.

—The many friends of Rev. Ambrose Schmidt will be glad to hear that he has about recovered from his recent severe illness, and is able to be about again.

—When a wreck occurs on the ocean there are always men willing to risk their lives in going to the rescue. When a financial wreck is impending the men who will risk a dollar to avert it are usually too few to do any good. This would seem to argue that life is not the most valuable thing a man may possess.

THE INQUIRER.

—The real event of the new theatrical season is the reopening of "Simple Simon Simple," which is to be seen here Friday evening, March 23. Our theatre goers are cognizant of the fact that it is the premiere of a big musical extravaganza and will compare favorably with "The Wizard of Oz," "Babes in Toyland," etc. and which, following its engagement here will be taken intact to New York for a run. So, with that end in view, the production, costumes, scenery and general effects will be most elaborate and the cast the largest and one of the most expensive seen at a local theatre, at popular prices, in many days.

—Gentle and conservative people may think that the address of Senator Tillman on the rate bill in the Senate this week was characteristically fierce and somewhat overdrawn. But it has set a great many astute politicians thinking and talking and is likely to do much for the cause of effective legislation. It certainly ranged the Senator on the side of the President and shows what he himself claims, that the rate bill is not and cannot be made a party measure, that it is a vital piece of legislation and that if this congress does not enact wise and conservative legislation the voters will see to it that another set of men are put in who will perhaps be less wise and certainly far more radical in the measures they will take to control the roads.

—Among the old soldiers who left Tuesday morning to attend the dedication of the soldiers monument at Vicksburg are: W. H. Musser, Geol. John L. Curtin, William Flack and W. H. Poorman of Bellefonte; Col. Austin Curtin of Roland; Col. John A. Daley of Curtin township; A. T. Boggs of Milesburg; Andrew Hall of Unionville; Capt. W. H. Fry, J. G. Heberling, Michael Hess, and Newton Hess of Pine Grove Mills; George W. Loner of Stormstown; J. Toner Lucas of Moshannon; C. T. Fryberger of Philipsburg; Joseph Funk of Roland; Michael Johnson, Mill Hall, and John Shaffer, Lock Haven. H. Laird Curtin, Hugh Crider and Miss Julia Curtin also accompanied the veterans and will take in the sights.

—Funny Tom Waters and a large supporting company will be the attraction at the opera house Monday, March 26th, in the new jolly jangling joyful Musical Mixture "Neighborhood Neighbors." Mr. Waters has surrounded himself with a strong supporting company. Much that is wholesome in the comedy field will be found in "Neighborhood Neighbors." In the title one sees nothing but fine blending of good nature and harmony, while in reality it is a continuous mixup of fighting neighbors and all worked up in a net work of the most comical situations imaginable. A company of twenty-five people, which includes a chorus of young and shapely girls, and a revelation in scenic and stage effects complete a altogether delightful entertainment. This is guaranteed attraction and should be greeted by a full house.

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

C. H. Parrish Says He Has at Last Discovered a Positive Cure for Indigestion.

"For years," said the above druggist "we have been waiting for some one to discover a remedy that really will cure dyspepsia.

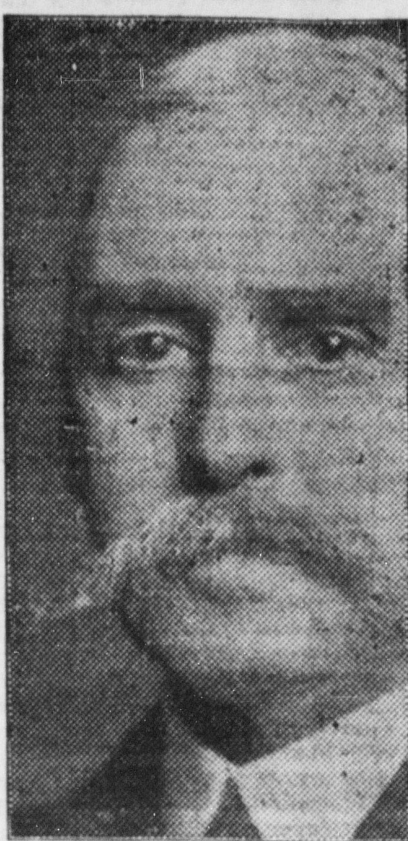

"I recently learned that a new remedy, Pepsicola Tablets, had been placed on the market, and on investigation I found that at last there is a remedy that surely will cure.

"I laid in a big supply because I knew that as soon as the people began to know about this remarkable remedy there would be a big demand for it, and it is selling beyond my expectations."

It is not often a druggist sells a new remedy on a positive guarantee, but unless cured of nervousness, dizzy spells, sour stomach, coated tongue, palpitation and other symptoms of dyspepsia, Mr. Parrish will hand back your money cheerfully and without argument.

No one should hesitate on trying a 25-cent box of Pepsicola Tablets, as they will not cost you a penny should they fail to relieve and cure the very worst case of indigestion and dyspepsia.

PE-RU-NA STRENGTHENS THE ENTIRE SYSTEM.

F. S. Davidson, Late Lieut. U. S. Army, Washington, D. C., care U. S. Pension Office, writes:

"To my mind there is no remedy for catarrh comparable to Peruna. It not only strikes at the root of the malady, but it tones and strengthens the system in a truly wonderful way. That has been its history in my case. I cheerfully and unhesitatingly recommend it to those afflicted as I have been."—F. S. Davidson.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Basket Ball Thursday Night.

Two very exciting games of basket ball were played Thursday night in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The preliminary game was between the Little Five and the Shooters, and was hotly contested. Both sides were composed of juniors and although the Shooters were the tallest the Little Five never lost their gameness. The score was Shooters 24, Little Five 16, but considering how the Shooters outclassed the Little Five in weight, both sides should be congratulated on their playing. Sully Myer played in his usual style, and young Hartman, the smallest boy in the game, kept his man ever on the go.

The line up was:
Shooters: Saylor forward, Little Five; Dickinson " " G. ridon; Hartman " " Thompson; Nearhood " " Malin; Snowers center; Gamble.
Referee, L. C. Godfrey; Timekeeper, R. Blair; 15 minute halves.

The second game Between the Bellefonte and Lock Haven Y. M. C. A's was one of the closest games of the season, ending up with the score Lock Haven 32, Bellefonte 30. At one time the Bellefonte boys had their visitors 28 to 20, and everything looked in their favor when the invincible Dick Quigley stepped into the line and took a hand in throwing goals and soon tied the score, with a minute more to play, and the score tied, it certainly was a supreme moment, when by a clever pass Braun got the ball and with a great sweep of his arm dropped the ball in the basket, thus giving Lock Haven the victory by one goal.

Both sides put up a splendid game and fought like tigers. Gephart was ever there with the goods and Keichline did some clever goal shooting. Bartholomew, our new man, was everywhere at once and kept everyone on the run. He takes to the ball like a bound to a hare. Quigley and Braun did some fine shooting and C. Peck was always near the ball.

The line up was:
Bellefonte: Bartholomew guard, Peck; Lane " " Glen; Lingle center; Peck; Keichline forward; Quigley; Gephart " " Braun; Struble sub; Patterson.

Goals for Bellefonte: Bartholomew 3, Lane 5, Lingle 2, Keichline 3, Gephart 2. Goals for Lock Haven: Braun 5, Quigley 5, Glen 1, C. Peck 4.

Foils were shot by Braun and Keichline. Referee, L. C. Godfrey; timekeeper, R. Blair; time of halves, 20 and 15 minutes. E. G. J.

WILL PROSECUTE RAILROADS

Ownership of Coal and Oil Properties to Be Investigated.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Preceded by a debate which indicated no hesitancy, but rather a relish in taking action against alleged railroad combinations, the house agreed without opposition to the Tillman-Gillespie resolution directing the interstate commerce commission to make an immediate inquiry and report regarding alleged restraints of trade on the part of certain railroads in the handling of coal and oil.

The resolution was not in the form in which it passed the senate and will go back to that body for its second action.

Mr. Grosvenor, of Ohio, characterized it as a rebuke to the recent "puerile" report which had been made to a certain railroad official. Mr. Gillespie (Texas) said if half he had heard was true, the commercial brigandage of today put entirely in the shade the hold-up man of the frontier days. Mr. Townsend (Michigan), who presented the resolution from the committee, discussed the conditions which in his opinion made it a necessity. The only note of apprehension was from Mr. Mann (Illinois), who called attention to the law which exempts from prosecution persons who may testify in the inquiry. In this manner, he said, the guilty officials, if any such were found, might be able to escape punishment. It was explained that the resolution in no way changed existing law on this side, and the belief was expressed that in making the inquiry the commission would exercise discretion in getting its information from sources which would not exempt possibly guilty parties.

WILL BURY PAUL JONES APRIL 24

Great Sea Fighter Will Be Interred With Imposung Naval Display.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 27.—Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte, General Horace Porter, Governor Edwin Warfield, of Maryland, and Admiral Sands were in conference relative to the interment of the remains of Admiral John Paul Jones, April 24th, the anniversary of his victory over the British frigate Drake. The body of the great sea fighter will on that date be removed from the temporary vault in which it was placed upon its return to this country, to the handsome memorial hall in the new midshipmen's quarters. While all the details have not been arranged, the ceremonies of April 24, which will be held in the armory of the naval academy, will be presided over by Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte, and addresses will be made by President Roosevelt, General Porter, Governor Warfield and the French ambassador, M. Jusserand.

It was decided to make the display a purely naval one, except that the various patriotic societies throughout the country will be invited to attend and participate. A feature of the occasion will be the fleet of warships of the United States, France, and it is expected, other countries which will be at anchor off this city.

HUMOR THAT SPICES THE ROUTINE WORK OF THE OFFICIALS.

Some of the Quaint and Original Applications for Payments That Have Been Handed In to the Representatives of Uncle Sam.

If he dared to do so the commissioner of pensions at Washington could compile a delightful volume, putting therein the strange applications for pensions that come to his office. Some of these letters belong to the "too good to keep" class, and they find their way out into the world, where they add a good deal to the hilarity of nations. Some applicants for pensions manifest the most childlike ignorance regarding the method of procedure necessary when applying for a pension. They seem to think that all they have to do is to send an application to the pension office and Uncle Sam will forward a check by return mail.

Soon after the close of the civil war there came to the pension office in Washington the following unique and poetical application for a pension that went the rounds of the newspapers years ago:

To Commissioner of Pensions Washington, these many years I've tried in vain an honest pension to obtain For wound received in Sixty one at first Battle of Bull Run one of ohioes sons so brave who went to the front the union to save And whilst Engaged in above said fight a rebel shell took half my sight Not content by taking an Eye this treacherous shell in Passing by took my Eye Brow Clear of the bone and Left me as unconscious as a stone burning a blister of Crystal Clear from the jaw bone to the Ear but thanks to god my life was spared Cheek and Eye brow but Slightly Scarred and one Eye was left to me for to wright and read Poets I hope that with that Eye to see the day when unkel Sam his Cripples will Pay.

Much more recent is the letter sent to the commissioner of pensions by an applicant who had contracted blood poisoning in the following remarkable manner:

I got blood poison by being hit with a hens egg when I came back from the front. The egg was not good when you send my pension I want the Deed made so my wife can't get none of it. She throd the egg. She war a rebel.

Equally appealing and remarkable was another letter sent to the pension office in which the applicant set forth himself as a Royal Tutor.

A sensation has been caused by the fact that King Peter of Servia has appointed Lieutenant Colonel Mishitch as instructor to the crown prince, says a Belgrade correspondent of the London Pall Mall Gazette. It is well known that Mishitch was one of the principal leaders and that he personally took

ART SERIES FREE.

Copies of Famous Paintings Now Being Given to Inquirer's Readers.

Much favorable comment is heard regarding The Philadelphia Inquirer's new series of Art Supplements.

These pictures, which are being given away free every week with The Sunday Inquirer, are reproductions of well-known paintings by the artists J. Drummond, E. Lonyot, E. Laurent, Caesar Detti, Gaetano Cueneli, Thomas Moran and others of equal note.

The subject for Sunday, March 25th, is from a painting of "The Mariner," now in the Waring Galleries, Steinway Hall, New York, by J. Drummond; while that for Sunday, April 1st, is entitled "The Harbor of Venice," from the brush of the great American artist, Thomas Moran. These will be followed each week by equally celebrated paintings, all of which are reproduced by the newly perfected process of color photography.

By this twentieth century method each print is an exact copy of the original painting, both in color and in outline, for photographic printing is the perfection of the art of reproduction. Nothing like this artistic series has ever before been issued, which accounts for the pleased comments of the recipients.

The Philadelphia Sunday Inquirer should be ordered in advance through your regular newsdealer if you wish to secure these pictures.

A Boys Idea of the Past Winter.

Your putting up a great big bluff And we think it might mean To wake up in the month of March When the grass is getting green.

And to throw your fluff blanket In the lap of early Spring, And fill with snow the little nooks Where the blue birds sit and sing.

We have had no belly wumpers O, you nasty, natty thing We have listened the long winter To hear the sleigh bells ring.

But this morning will forgive you For in the stillness of the night You decked the trees and evergreens In robes of spotless white.

Its wonderful to see your works Here in this, cold northern clime No artists touch or diamonds bright Could make scenes, just so sublime.

Old Bores stopped and held his breath Well,—he just refused to blow Your sparkling gems from off the limbs That you made, just out of snow.

"Simple Simon Simple."

There are many dances in Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman's new cartoon, musical extravaganza, "Simple Simon Simple" which comes to the Garman opera house Friday night, March 23rd. Among the most attractive may be mentioned the ballet of the nursery rhymes in Act II. This pretty dance is opened by Mother Goose, who first ascends to Simon's room and puts him to sleep by the use of her magic wand. She then summons her minions, the first being little Miss Muffet who does a solo dance which is most dainty, after which Jack and Jill are introduced and do a characteristic jig. Little Boy Blue and his sweetheart Bo Peep now appear in response to Mother Goose's summons and after a short gavotte are joined by Peter Pumpkin Eater and Red Riding Hood. The whole number ends with a brisk gallop which takes the Mother Goose party off in a whirl of applause.

An acrobatic dance by Neil McNeil in the character of Simon and Anna McNabb as Hulda is also one of the features of Act II. This number is a marvel of dexterity and knockabout dancing, during which both participants get more exercise than the average mortal does in a life time.

To Freshen up Your Looks.

If you are weary and worried and have to go out to dine, and want to look and feel bright, try this recipe: Take a warm bath in which you have poured a few tablespoonsful of ammonia and a little toilet vinegar. Scrub your body vigorously with a loofah or a flesh brush to bring the blood to the surface. After getting out of the tub rub a little alcohol or toilet vinegar mixed with cold water over the skin, and slipping into a warm wrapper, lie down in a darkened room for at least twenty minutes, but not longer than three-quarters of an hour. Have a warm covering over you and the window open from the top. Sleep if you can but close your eyes away.

One woman takes a Turkish face bath when she wants to look "smooth and young." She comes home tired, worried, and livid, and she creams her face with cold cream instead of bathing it. Then she takes a bath if she has time; if not, she lies down and rests fifteen or twenty minutes. It is very important that this must be taken when one is completely undressed—no shoes, no corset, or waistbands to interfere with the circulation. When she gets up she washes off the cold cream in a face bath of warm water in which she has put a half-teaspoonful of borax and a teaspoonful of almond meal. She rinses it in a cooler water mixed with one-third rose water. The latter is a mild skin tonic and very soothing.

Now Isn't This Nice!

Says an English writer: The American man is well content with his sister and partner, and with the bright, full, comrade like home life that he obtains with a woman as well educated and as intelligent and free in spirit as himself. The fact is that the American women are the best educated, brightest, most interesting, courteous, sisterly, warm hearted, and adaptable of the women of the present day, and the men who know them best appreciate them most! As to the number of Englishmen who have shown that they also appreciate American women by marrying them, there is an obviously less amiable interpretation possible of those frequent excursions a-wooing to America of our aristocracy; yet in many cases the suggestion of merely mercenary motives would be plainly erroneous, and we should usually be mistaken in imputing it.

A Recipe for Kisses.

To one piece of a dark piazza add a little moonlight; take for granted two people; press in two strong ones a small, soft hand; sift light two ounces of attraction; add a large measure of folly; stir in a floating ruffle; add one or two whispers; dissolve a half dozen glances in a well of silence; dust in a small quantity of hesitation; one ounce of resistance; place the kisses on a flushed cheek or two red lips; flavor with a slight scream and set aside to cool. This will succeed in any climate if directions are carefully followed.

No. 2.

How's this for winter, if it is Spring-time? We could not wish for better sleighing than we are having now. Of course the snow is very deep and the country roads are drifted terrible.

Rebecca Newman returned home on Saturday from Trafford City, where she had been waiting on her son William, who has had typhoid fever.

Anyone wishing good boarding and first class accommodations just register at the Central Hotel. The new landlord, Harry C. Woodring is spending much time and effort in repairing and fixing the hotel so as to insure the comfort of those who stop with him. Then his wife who is at the cooking department will guarantee you plenty of the best to eat. Charles is an accommodating liverman and is at the service of all who patronize him at any time. Just give him a call while this sleighing lasts.

Mrs. James Reese & children of Tyrone were Sunday visitors at the Central Hotel which is now the home of her parents.

Mr. Gilbert Eiler is certainly making good use of the snow, as he has about all the teams in the neighborhood hauling logs for him. Mr. Eiler has several thousand feet of timber which he expects to have sawed this spring.

Mrs. Mary Pringle on getting out of bed one morning last week threw some of the muscles and leaders of her neck out of place which caused her a great deal of pain. She was confined to bed for a couple days, but is able to be around again.

Mr. Edgar Williams of Olivia, Sundayed at his home in this place.

Mr. Harry E. Woodring moved into his new home which he purchased of H. C. Woodring, and has been living there since Thursday.

Here are some of the excuses given by one of our young men here, and of course we don't have to accept them: 1st. He says that he like to hear the trains running. 2nd. He is sick or not feeling very good. 3rd. He is studying medicine. Yes, we all know that late office hours make one late going to study, etc.

A. W. Woodring and family moved from Tyrone last week to the farm near this place vacated by his brother Harry.

Mrs. Matilda Camp and children of Altoona spent Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Marks.

Millheim.

Quite a number of the members of Millheim Castle K. G. E. went to Centre Hall last Friday to witness the instituting of a new lodge at that place.

We had considerable snow last week. The first snow measured 10 inches, and another one fell to the depth of 9 inches. Sleighing is good but some of the roads are considerably drifted.

It has been reported that some parties were fishing with nets in Elk Creek last week. Is this against the law or not?

C. H. Breon is very busy at present taking views and other work. Mr. Breon is up to date in the photograph business, and is also headquarters for the Edison Phonographs and records.

Some of the hotel keepers are not very much pleased with the restrictions of the court granting licenses. It is all right.

Sheriff Kline transacted legal business here one day last week.

D. J. Neiman, the up to date clothier, notwithstanding the dull season, is doing a good trade, and at this season is selling all goods at remarkably low prices, to make room for his large stock of spring and summer goods.

Very many people on last Sunday were out enjoying the sleighing.

The public sale of George L. Zerby near Coburn on last Saturday was well attended. Mr. Zerby will in the near future move to Potter township.

On Monday it snowed all day and it fell to the depth of 12 inches.

John M. Reish made a business trip to Millheim on last Monday.

S. N. Reber of Lewisburg was seen on our streets on Monday.

The public sale of H. E. Dock, on last Tuesday was largely attended.

High winds prevailed on Monday night drifting many of the lanes and by roads, making it necessary for farmers and others to take the fields in order to get on the main roads.

Centre Hall

On last Friday evening Centre Hall Castle No. 365, Knights of the Golden Eagle, was instituted. Over forty members were installed as charter members. Delegations of Sir Knights were present from Spring Mills, Millheim and Madison Castles. The place of meeting is in the hall over the store room of Kremer & Son.

Several years ago the Centre Hall school board bought the grove lying south of the Reformed church having a breadth of nearly two full lots in front and extending back to the borough line. Many of our citizens, however, did not consider the location a favorable one for a school building, so the board decided to sell the two front lots and advertised for bids. On last Friday the bids were opened when it was found that Centre Hall Lodge of Odd Fellows was the successful bidder. The price was $500. The school board still owns the two rear lots.

Miss Roxanna Brisbin, who is district deputy of the Daughters of Rebecca, organized a new lodge of Rebecca in Clearfield a few days ago.

J. Q. A. Kennedy is in Johnstown, having gone there to look after some property he owns in the Flood City.

B. Garis and son Reuben and Joshua Armstrong, who are doing mason work in Burnham, came home to spend a few days with their families.

Lemont.

Philip Bradford is our permanent station agent at this place; he took possession last Thursday.

Joe. Bohm, who has been employed at Saydettown this winter, spent a few days at home last week.

Miss Anna Fogleman is visiting in Bellefonte this week.

Wm. Schreck and wife spent Sunday at the home of Sam'l Zettle, near Lavertown.

Calvin Meyer of State College transacted business in town on Monday.

Miss Nell Herman of the State hospital, Phillipsburg, spent a few days last week at the home of her father, Jacob S. Herman.

Meditations of a Spinster.

The caprice of a woman often means a broken heart for somebody.

When in doubt, always talk to a man about himself.

Spending your money seems nowadays much wiser than to try to save it in some investments.

You may return with health from a vacation, but you may be certain that you will return with an empty pocket-book.

Some men seem to think that a woman is a nice article to have around to blame everything on; from a lost collar button to a fall in stocks.

A Fool's Banquet.

An obscure college professor, who is probably in the employ of the opponents of the Heyburn pure food bill, is planning a dinner at a New York hotel, at which he proposes to prove that people can eat adulterated food products without suffering evil effects therefrom. The time and efforts will be expended in vain. No one claims that instant death follows the consumption of adulterated foods, nor that ordinarily any readily perceptible symptoms of ill health result from the same cause.

The learned professor, however, will find it difficult to convince the majority of people that aniline dyes, glucose, salicylic acid and formaldehyde are the proper condiments to accompany a good dinner, in the opinion of the Sraaton Truth.

If such ingredients made the soup more savory to his own gastronomic tastes, the public will pick no quarrel with him. There's no disputing concerning tastes. People who are not servants, but simply persons of good common sense who have not had their tastes perverted by any fee from the manufacturers of adulterated foods, prefer a diet free from the taint of poison.

This apologist for the adulterators of food would have us believe that poisons are wholesome because they are not sufficient in quantity to produce instant death. The argument is unsound. He will doubtless not have any difficulty in finding plenty of men to eat his experimental dinner which is to be topped off with a glass of cognac made of alcohol, sulphuric acid and cocoa oil.

Doubtless he might advertise word alcohol cocktails and still have no vacant places at the table. It's a matter of taste, but plain, sensible men will continue to demand pure food products. There's no accounting for the idiosyncrasies of genius.

Pittsburg Ball Club Off for Hot Springs.

Last Monday evening the Pittsburg Base ball club started for Hot Springs, where the players will be drilled and put in condition for what promises to be the most interesting championship struggle in the history of the National League. The sporting editor of The Pittsburg Dispatch, Charles B. Power, whose interesting reports from the training camp last spring were admittedly the brightest and most entertaining ever published, as usual, accompanied the Pirates and will keep the readers of that journal fully informed as to the movements of the players. Mr. Power is a recognized baseball authority and is well qualified to pass judgment on the young players to be tried by the Pittsburg club, as well as to keep readers of The Dispatch advised as to the form displayed by the old members of the team. Before entering upon newspaper work he was prominent as a player and manager, served two seasons as a National League umpire and later was for five years President of the Inter-State League.

With Mr. Power as its sporting editor the Pittsburg Dispatch is the paper that every lover of baseball should read. Leave an order with your news-dealer now. You will enjoy the daily letters from Hot Springs and you will at all times get the best sporting news published.

Locusts Are Due.

Professor H. A. Surface, State Economic Zoologist, is authority for the statement that this is the year for the appearance of the seventeen year locusts. These locusts are among the most mysterious of nature's productions in the insect line. Every seventeen years these cicada emerge from the earth, screech through the summer, lay their eggs and give up the ghost. The noise they make is anything but pleasant and resembles somewhat the music made by rapidly drawing a cross-cut saw across the edges of a wash boiler.

It is erroneously supposed that the locusts do great damage to fruit trees and shrubbery by eating the buds and leaves. Nobody has as yet been found who will swear that the cicada eats anything. It seems to be so busy rasping out his unearthly sounds that he hasn't time to eat. The only damage the locust does is to bore holes into the limbs of trees and deposit eggs therein. This kills the limbs. When the young get big enough they bore into the ground and keep on boring until they get so deep it takes them seventeen years to get back to the surface.

People in this section of the country need not be alarmed over the prospective appearance of the seventeen-year locusts. The worst thing about them are the names applied to them by bug-ologists. The life of a locust is brief and full of trouble. He is regarded as a delectable morsel by many kinds of birds and his eggs are sought by the gourmands among the insect tribe.

WORK FOR YOURSELF.

Then You Will Have a Chance to Develop Your Individuality.

It is well known that long continued employment in the service of others often cripples originality and individuality. That resourcefulness and inventiveness which come from perpetual stretching of the mind to meet emergencies or from adjustment of means to ends is seldom developed to its utmost in those who work for others. There is not the same compelling motive to expand, to reach out, to take risks or to plan for oneself when the programme is made for him by another.

Our self made men, who refused to remain employees or subordinates, are the backbone of the nation. They are the sinews of our country's life. They got their power as the northern oak gets its strength, by fighting every inch of its way up from the acorn with storm and tempest. It is the hard schooling that the self made man gets in his struggles to elevate and make a place for himself in the world that develops him.

Some employees have a pride in working for a great institution. Their identity with it pleases them. But isn't even a small business of your own, which gives you freedom and scope to develop your individuality and to be yourself, better than being a perpetual clerk in a large institution, where you are merely one cog in a wheel of a vast machine?

The sense of personal responsibility is in itself a great educator, a powerful schoolmaster. Sometimes young women who have been brought up in luxury and who have known nothing of work when suddenly thrown upon their own resources by the loss of property or compelled even to support their once wealthy parents develop remarkable strength and personal power. Young men, too, sometimes surprise everybody when suddenly left to carry on their father's business unaided. They develop force and power which no one dreamed they possessed.

We never know what we can do until we are put to the test by some great emergency or tremendous responsibility. When we feel that we are cut off from outside resources and must depend absolutely upon ourselves we can fight with all the force of desperation.

The trouble with working for others is the cramping of the individuality—the lack of opportunity to expand along original and progressive lines—because fear of making a mistake and apprehension lest we take too great risks are constantly hampering the executive, the creative, the original faculties.—Success.

Cap'n Bill's Explanation.

After the visitors to the island of Nantucket had covered the course over which sightseers are always conducted, says a writer in the Boston Herald, one of the ladies of the party requested that the drive be continued to "Sheep pond."

"The place where the natives used to wash the wool on their sheep in the old days," she supplemented. "Everybody goes to see it."

The driver and guide, Cap'n Bill, looked perplexed. He was evidently puzzled as to the location of this interesting sheet of water. But an old sailor and town character is rarely nonplused, and presently Cap'n Bill snapped his whip, determination in his eye. He drove to a neighboring hill and stopped his horses.

"Here 'tis," he said, with a sweep of his hand.

"I don't see any water!" was the general exclamation.

"Not now," Cap'n Bill gravely admitted. "You see, the sheep was so dirty that the bloomin' pond got filled up."—Youth's Companion.

The Great Clock at Rouen.

The ancient city of Rouen, France, owns the very earliest specimen of the larger varieties of the ancient clock makers' triumphs. It was made by Jehan de Felains and was finished and set going in September, 1293. So perfect in construction is this ancient time recording machine that, although it has been regularly striking the hours, halves and quarters for centuries, it is still used as a regulator. The case of this early horological oddity is six feet eight inches in height by five inches broad. For 325 years it continued to run without a pendulum, being provided with what the old time clock makers called a "foliot."

An Honest Man.

Hiram Stroode for the seventh time was about to fail. He called in an expert accountant to disentangle his books. The accountant after two days' work announced to Hiram that he would be able to pay his creditors 4 cents on the dollar. At this news the old man looked vexed.

"Before," he said, frowning, "I have always paid 10 cents on the dollar."

A virtuous and benevolent expression spread over his face.

"And I will do so now," he resumed. "I will make up the difference out of my own pocket."

He Made Sure.

A story is told of the Sudan railway which shows patient literalness. To an official there came the telegram from an outlying station: "Station master has died. Shall I bury him?" The reply was sent: "Yes; bury station master, but please make sure he is really dead before you do so." In due time back came the message: "Have buried station master. Made sure he was dead by hitting him twice on the head with a fish plate." There was perfect assurance that there had been no premature burial.

NOTICE OF APPEALS.

Annual Assessment Appeals for 1906.

Notice is hereby given to the taxpayers of Centre county that the County Commissioners will hear and determine appeals at the Commissioners' office, Bellefonte, Pa., for the respective districts as follows:—

TWO SCORE KILLED On Denver and Rio Grande Railway Near Adobe, Colorado. BODIES INCINERATED.

Many of the Dead Were Home-Seekers,
Bound for the Northwest—Wreck
Due to Undelivered Orders.

THE NIGHT WAS WILD AND STORMY

Pueblo, Colo., March 17.—Some two score lives were crushed out early Friday in a head-on collision of two passenger trains near Adobe, Colo., on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, and more than a score of the victims were incinerated beyond identification by the fire that destroyed the wrecked coaches. More than a score were injured but will probably recover.

The wreck was due to undelivered orders, heavy mountain grades, and the slippery condition of the rails. Only the locomotive, baggage and day coaches were wrecked, the sleeping cars escaping almost unscathed.

Many of the dead were home seekers bound for the northwest. The three crushed locomotives set fire to the splintered coaches and it was hours before the bodies were recovered, the flames being so hot that rescuers could not approach the debris until the fuel burned out.

It was a wild, stormy night in the mountain canyons when the two heavy trains met. Blinding snow darkened the rocky gorges and speed was not high.

Suddenly headlights flashed out and it was realized by the engineers that something was wrong. According to fireman J. H. Smith, of the west-bound train, Engineer Walter Colett applied the emergency brake, but the slippery rails allowed the momentum of the heavy train to carry it on to the fatal impact.

The impact was scarcely noticeable, but the trains crashed and ground into each other. The helper engine of the west-bound train acted as a cushion, minimizing the force and weight of the heavy mountain engines. This helper was crushed together like so much paper and the larger locomotives ran through the mesh of iron and plowed each other to pieces.

Fireman Smith was the only one of the engine crews to escape. The baggage car of the west-bound train broke in two and three coaches were squeezed together. The baggage car, the mail car and a coach of the east-bound train buckled, but none of the cars telescoped.

Hardly had the noise of the wreck ceased when a sheet of fire ran through the shattered cars of both trains. In the forward coach of the west-bound engine seat was occupied by passengers, most of whom were home seekers. A number of foreigners were among them and in their terror they gave up life without making any attempt to reach safety out side the burning car. They sank to the floor of the car and were roasted alive. The cooler ones in the car, seeing their danger, rushed for the windows and doors, and with the aid of the passengers in the rear of the train and those members of the train crew who were unhurt managed to reach the open air.

"Have by some surgeon Shylock on thy charge to set upon his wounds lest he do bleed to death. People can bleed to death. The loss of blood weakens the body. It must follow that gain of blood gives the body strength. The strengthening effect of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in large part due to its action on the blood making glands and the increased supply of pure, rich blood it produces. It is only when the blood is impoverished and impure that disease finds a soil in which to root. The 'Discovery' purifies the blood and makes it antagonistic to disease. When the body is emaciated, the lungs are weak, and there is obstinate lingering cough, 'Golden Medical Discovery' puts the body on a fighting footing against disease, and so increases the vitality that disease is thrown off, and physical health perfectly and permanently restored. It has cured thousands who were hopeless and helpless, and who had tried all other means of cure without avail.

Twenty-one one-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing only will obtain a copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, in paper cover. Send thirty-one stamps if cloth binding is preferred address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Doan's Ointment cured me an eczema that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent."—Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner Labor Statistics, August, 1905.

LOST—Tuesday evening a child's fur collar, between the stone school house on Allegheny street and Rev. Cox's home on Willowbank Street. The finder will please return to Rev. Cox or Daily News office.

—Rough skin and cracked hands and feet not only cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, but an occasional application will keep the skin soft and smooth. Best for Eczema, Cuts, Burns, Boils, etc., the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve affords immediate relief in all forms of Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Protruding piles. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs. "Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ike of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble. C. M. Parsh."

—Send $1.00 to The Bellefonte Republican and you will receive it with THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE FARMER, the best agricultural family weekly in the United States, for a full year.

—If you are troubled with Piles and can't find a cure, try Witch Hazel Salve but be sure you get that made by E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. It is the Original. If you have used Witch Hazel Salve without being relieved it is probable that you got hold of one of the many worthless counterfeits that are sold on the reputation of the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, Green's Pharmacy.

—The best way to rid the system of a cold is to evacuate the bowels. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar acts as a pleasant, yet effective cathartic on the bowels. It clears the head, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the bronchial tubes, relieves coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, etc. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

—Itching, torturing skin eruptions, disfigure, annoy, drive one wild. Doan's Ointment brings quick relief and lasting cures. Fifty cents at any drug store.

THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctor did me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough 'cures'? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18. MISS L. L. CLARK, Indianapolis.

A MURDEROUS WEAPON.

The Explosive Harpoon, the Whale Hunter's Chief Reliance.

The explosive harpoon, which is the modern whale hunter's chief reliance, is a truly murderous weapon, six feet in length and strong in proportion, made chiefly of malleable iron and admirably designed for the slaying of the immense creatures. Its most striking feature next to the bomb head, which is operated by a time fuse and explodes in the vital of the whale, is the anchor-like device that prevents the harpoon "drawing" out of the body again under the terrific strain of the wounded monster's frantic efforts to free itself. This consists of four hinged bars, which lie along the shaft before it is fired, but which are forced apart and imbed themselves in the whale's body after he is hit, so that if the prize escapes, which sometimes occurs, it is only by breaking the rope.

When "fish" are numerous and there is a chance of killing more than one in a day a novel method is adopted with the first victim. When it is seen to be dead a hole is bored through its back into its stomach and air is pumped into it by a pipe from the steamer's engines until it is inflated like a great balloon. The orifice is then closed with a wooden plug, and a man is left alongside in a small boat to establish ownership, while the whaler steams off in quest of other prey. As many as five whales have been killed by a ship in one day, four is not an unusual "bag," and three and two are commonly got. A single ship killed twenty-two in a week, and the record year's work for one is 258, an amazing number when it is remembered that on stormy days it is impossible to cruise at all, as the sprays bury the gun, and that during the winter months fishing is abandoned. During that period the whales "strike off" the coast to escape the ice floes, to which the whalers are not partial, being in this respect unlike their arctic congeners, whose habitat is now the remotest section of Hudson bay and the channels which strike north from its farthest bounds into the polar sea itself.—Technical World.

LINCOLN'S CARELESSNESS.

His Hat His Favorite Receptacle For Letters and Papers.

When Lincoln was postmaster of New Salem he used to tuck the letters inside his hat and deliver them whenever he happened to meet the persons to whom they were addressed. As this is a fair example of his business system, it may readily be imagined that the office of Stuart & Lincoln was not a model establishment, where there was a place for everything and everything in its place. And it was not. Indeed, as a managing clerk the junior partner would have been a hopeless failure, and as an attorney, in the technical sense of the term, he would never have distinguished himself. He disliked everything connected with the drudgery of legal routine, hated drawing the declarations and pleas, despising the artificialities and refinements which were even then beginning to creep into the pleadings and disregarded forms whenever it was possible to do so.

There was nothing mechanical, precise or methodical about the man, and in all those housewifely virtues which characterized the careful, orderly, exact solicitor he was utterly deficient. He never knew where his papers were, and apparently the only attempt he ever made to better the disorder was to write on one of his bundles of papers which littered his desk, "When you can't find it anywhere else, look in this." But that was long after the firm of Stuart & Lincoln had dissolved, and even then we find him explaining to a correspondent that he had placed his letter inside an old hat and had thus neglected answering it, which shows he had not wholly outgrown the habit of his postoffice days. Indeed, his hat continued to be his favorite receptacle for papers as long as he lived, and he never acquired any sense of order.—Frederick Trevor Hill in Century.

TREACHEROUS RIVER BEDS.

A Homesteader's Outfit When Caught In the Quick sands.

The "mover's" wagon, canvas covered and travel worn, is always picturesque. The traveling home for a family and all their worldly goods, from furniture to poultry, is still a familiar sight on western roads. The spirit of dissatisfaction and longing for newer fields that lurks under that broad brimmed hat is a spark of the same fire that has been the theme of our history. By some stream under the cottonwoods of an evening you may sometimes see this half gypsy, and the fire, with its accompanying smell of bacon and beans or the song and accordion, will suggest as you drive by why the roving has always its fascinations.

There are, however, the long dusty days of travel and sore backed horses, the occasional swollen floods, and always present, though seldom encountered, are the quicksands of the dry bottom streams. They are indistinguishable and silent. The shallow ribbons of water flow over them as over all the rest of the river bed, but once fairly in their grasp there is a remorseless, certain settling, which a struggle only hastens and which ends in an everlasting disappearance. Cattle and horses are caught in it oftentimes, and if seen in time, can be pulled out with a rope and horse, but into its hungry maw have gone horses, wagons and men, and even a locomotive, going through a bridge, has been known to disappear in this bottomless mystery.—Allen True in Outing.

WORK THAT TELLS.

Plenty of It Has Been Done Right Here in Bellefonte.

Cures that last are cures that tell. To thoroughly know the virtues of a medicine you must investigate the cures and see if they prove permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills stand this test, and plenty of proof exists right here in Bellefonte.

People who testified years ago to relief from backache, kidney and urinary disorders, now declare that relief was permanent and the cure perfect. How can any Bellefonte suffer longer doubt the evidence?

J. Curtis Johnson, 365 E. Bishop St., says: "I think even more of Doan's Kidney Pills now than I did in 1897 when I made a statement for publication recommending them. I had been suffering at that time for more than a year with backache and lameness through the loins. At times I was so weak that I could not lift anything and if I stooped it was almost impossible for me to straighten up. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidney the whole time. I felt dull and tired and lacked ambition. Procuring Doan's Kidney Pills from F. V. Green's drug store I was soon cured of the whole combination of troubles and was cured very quickly. My wife has also used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and was cured and invigorated generally as well. We both think very highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and have been recommending them ever since I gave my former statement in 1897."

Read!

In the New York Family Story Paper, Charlotte May Kinney's great romance, An American Girl, or Hearts and Crowns. The subject deals with the one brought into prominence only lately by Andrew Carnegie's remark that he would not care to have a worthless British Duke marry into his family. Mrs. Kinney depicts the American Girl true to life with all of a real American girl's absence of being hindered for a title. The splendid serial begins in No. 1654 of the New York Family Story Paper. To be able all to read this fascinating romance we will send you a copy of the paper containing the opening instalment, free of all charge. Send your name and address on a postal card to The New York Family Story Paper, 24-26 Vandewater street, New York City.

—Don't frown—look pleasant. If you are suffering from indigestion or sour stomach, take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hon. Jake Moore, of Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered more than 20 years with indigestion. Kodol digests what you eat, relieves sour stomach, gas on stomach, belching, etc. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST

"Speak for It!" she cried to doggie. For she knew in her little heart, That German Syrup, home's great treasure, Could health and joy impart.

"The greatest tonic on earth is a good night's rest. Restless nights and the terrible exhaustion of a hacking cough are dread dangers of the poor consumptive. But why this fear of the night when a few doses of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup will insure refreshing sleep, entirely free from cough or night sweat? Free expectation in the morning is made certain by taking German Syrup.

"We know by the experience of over thirty-five years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders."

Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

WORK FOR YOURSELF.

Then You Will Have a Chance to Develop Your Individuality.

It is well known that long continued employment in the service of others often cripples originality and individuality. That resourcefulness and inventiveness which come from perpetual stretching of the mind to meet emergencies or from adjustment of means to ends is seldom developed to its utmost in those who work for others. There is not the same compelling motive to expand, to reach out, to take risks or to plan for oneself when the programme is made for him by another.

Our self made men, who refused to remain employees or subordinates, are the backbone of the nation. They are the sinews of our country's life. They got their power as the northern oak gets its strength, by fighting every inch of its way up from the acorn with storm and tempest. It is the hard schooling that the self made man gets in his struggles to elevate and make a place for himself in the world that develops him.

Some employees have a pride in working for a great institution. Their identity with it pleases them. But isn't even a small business of your own, which gives you freedom and scope to develop your individuality and to be yourself, better than being a perpetual clerk in a large institution, where you are merely one cog in a wheel of a vast machine?

The sense of personal responsibility is in itself a great educator, a powerful schoolmaster. Sometimes young women who have been brought up in luxury and who have known nothing of work when suddenly thrown upon their own resources by the loss of property or compelled even to support their once wealthy parents develop remarkable strength and personal power. Young men, too, sometimes surprise everybody when suddenly left to carry on their father's business unaided. They develop force and power which no one dreamed they possessed.

We never know what we can do until we are put to the test by some great emergency or tremendous responsibility. When we feel that we are cut off from outside resources and must depend absolutely upon ourselves we can fight with all the force of desperation.

The trouble with working for others is the cramping of the individuality—the lack of opportunity to expand along original and progressive lines—because fear of making a mistake and apprehension lest we take too great risks are constantly hampering the executive, the creative, the original faculties.—Success.

Cap'n Bill's Explanation.

After the visitors to the island of Nantucket had covered the course over which sightseers are always conducted, says a writer in the Boston Herald, one of the ladies of the party requested that the drive be continued to "Sheep pond."

"The place where the natives used to wash the wool on their sheep in the old days," she supplemented. "Everybody goes to see it."

The driver and guide, Cap'n Bill, looked perplexed. He was evidently puzzled as to the location of this interesting sheet of water. But an old sailor and town character is rarely nonplused, and presently Cap'n Bill snapped his whip, determination in his eye. He drove to a neighboring hill and stopped his horses.

"Here 'tis," he said, with a sweep of his hand.

"I don't see any water!" was the general exclamation.

"Not now," Cap'n Bill gravely admitted. "You see, the sheep was so dirty that the bloom'n' pond got filled up."—Youth's Companion.

The Great Clock at Rouen.

The ancient city of Rouen, France, owns the very earliest specimen of the larger varieties of the ancient clock makers' triumphs. It was made by Jehan de Felains and was finished and set going in September, 1389. So perfect in construction is this ancient time recording machine that, although it has been regularly striking the hours, halves and quarters for centuries, it is still used as a regulator. The case of this early horological oddity is six feet eight inches in height by five inches broad. For 325 years it continued to run without a pendulum, being provided with what the old time clock makers called a "foliot."

An Honest Man.

Hiram Stroode for the seventh time was about to fail. He called in an expert accountant to disentangle his books. The accountant after two days' work announced to Hiram that he would be able to pay his creditors 4 cents on the dollar. At this news the old man looked vexed.

"Herefore," he said, frowning, "I have always paid 10 cents on the dollar."

"A virtuous and benevolent disposition spread over his face. 'And I will do so now,' he said. 'I will make up the difference out of my own pocket.'"

"Home, Sweet Home!"

"Home, Sweet Home!" was a quaintly a naïveté. "Clara, the Maid of Milledale," was a failure, and nothing known of it save the one fact, that it had been a failure. It had been a failure, and nothing known of it save the one fact, that it had been a failure. It had been a failure, and nothing known of it save the one fact, that it had been a failure.

—Now, men and brethren, and also sisters dear, you should ever bear in mind that to have and keep friends there are two things to do: Sympathize with them over their ailments and troubles, and laugh at their jokes. Do not loan them much money or you may be called to mourn the loss of friends and money too.

—Domestic troubles are among the most serious perils which confront the rising generation. Every child is entitled to the blessed influence of a pure and happy home. But when husband and wife spend much time in jangling and quarreling, without reference to the child's presence, how is the latter to escape contamination? The makers of homes have a tremendous responsibility. They may try to shirk it, but it will cling to them through this life and the next.

—Edward Mills died at the Western penitentiary, Allegheny, Tuesday. He was serving a sentence for feloniously assaulting and robbing Miss Emma Love, near Tyrone, on the evening of October 18, 1904. Mills was a negro aged about 30 years, a native of Virginia, and he came from Harrisburg to this vicinity where he was employed about the limestone quarries at the time of the occurrence of the crime for which he was incarcerated.

—Of all the offensive people in creation, a profane or ill-mannered man is the most distressing. They can be found most anywhere, on the street corners, in hotels, or crowding timid ladies in trolley cars or perhaps expectorating tobacco juice with sublime disregard for those about them. You can recognize in them the fellows who crowd and elbow in public places. Those half-bred, ill-cultured beings make themselves obnoxious and disagreeable to everybody.

—The many friends in Bellefonte of Miss Annie Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Weber of Howard, will learn with regret of her serious illness with typhoid fever in the German hospital, Philadelphia. Sometime ago Miss Weber left her home in Howard, well and happy, on an extended visit to her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore. A message from the above mentioned city Friday announces her alarming condition and gives little hope of her recovery.

—Dr. Laurie preached in the Evangelical church Sunday.

—Mr. Hammond Seebler is ill at his home on Linn street.

—Mrs. Frank Kerns is confined to her bed with an attack of tonsillitis.

—It is reported from Paris that Count Boni is catching the grip. Just as he is looking it to.

—F. P. Blair is confined to his home on Spring street, suffering from an attack of the grip.

—There's a blizzard in Montana. We hope it may stay there—at least that it will not come here.

—The receipts of the railroads have increased considerably since the disappearance of the pass.

—Mr. Frank Woerner, who was sick last week, is now able to be at work again at the Bellefonte Steam Laundry.

—A great many of those who broke down on their New Year's resolutions are already breaking down on keeping Lent.

—Mrs. John Meese of west Logan street has been ill for the past two weeks. The beginning of her sickness was a severe cold.

—The Penn. Hall postoffice was closed Wednesday, and on the last of this month the Potters Mills postoffice will be discontinued.

—The inauguration of a great war between the miners and the coal operators at the present time would be a crime against the country's prosperity.

—Mr. S. Keifer gave a social Thursday night for his Sunday School class at Tanners in honor of Miss Mable Otto, who will shortly locate in Johnstown.

—Worry over an investigation of his accounts caused Charles P. Lytle, warrant clerk in the city controller's office, Buffalo, N. Y., to shoot and kill himself.

—Some of the railroads are issuing orders to prohibit flirting around the passenger station. Such an order would hit a good many in this place pretty hard.

—The Lewisburg train, due here at 9 o'clock, Tuesday morning stuck in a snow drift in the mountains between Glen Iron and Coburn and consequently was 24 hours late.

—The house committee on military affairs reported favorably a bill appropriating $75,000 for the purchase of a building in Washington to be used as a temporary home for soldiers and sailors.

—Owing to the heavy snows the P. J. and E. R. R., which runs through the Allegheny Mountains, is out of commission. Their cars are filled with snow and there is drifts everywhere along the track.

—Citizens of Toledo, O., will make an organized effort to induce President Roosevelt to pardon George E. Lorenz, who is now in prison for conspiracy to defraud the government in the postal cases.

—See Simon and Mose get around the cake and punch, not to mention the chicken and side dishes in the party scene in "Simple Simon Simple," which comes here Friday evening, March 23rd.

—As spring approaches our residents should begin looking after the sanitary condition of their premises. The Board of Health will no doubt make an inspection of the borough and you should have your property in a good healthy condition.

—E. R. Jones of Port Matilda, who has been treated for rheumatism at the Bellefonte Hospital for some time past, returned home Friday feeling much better and and in his praise for the hospital. Dr. Thompson of Port Matilda was in charge of Mr. Jones.

—Harry the 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eilers of Oak Hall, died Friday after a short illness with the measles. Harry as he was familiarly called, was a very bright and attractive young man and his early death has cast a gloom over the entire community.

—The friends of Rev. J. Allison Platte, recently called to the pastorate of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, were sorry to learn of his illness at his home in Allegheny, Pa. The Pittsburgh papers of Monday say that he is suffering from a bad cold and threatened with pneumonia. They hope his illness may not prove serious.

—Another saw mill workman had two of his fingers severed by coming in contact with a saw. This time it was Henry Knoffsinger, of Pleasant Gap, the accident happening at the mill of his grandfather, William Knoffsinger. The unfortunate man was adjusting the machinery, when a piece of iron struck the saw, which was indirectly responsible. The first finger of the left hand was cut off entirely, and the second finger was badly lacerated and the bone split. Dr. Lee dressed the wound.

—One of our exchanges makes a good suggestion to parents when it says: "Keep your daughters off the streets. Make home attractive to them and let them entertain their company there instead of gallivanting around the streets." Many a well meaning father and mother have sent their daughters to ruin by being too strict in the home. Young people will have associates and they will enjoy themselves, if not at home surrounded by wholesome and uplifting influences, on the streets and in questionable resorts.

Death of Ellis Lytle.

Ellis Lytle for over a half century a prominent resident of Half Moon township, died Friday morning at 2 o'clock, of diabetes, at his home in Baileyville. Mr. Lytle had been ill only two weeks, and the news of his death comes as a shock to his many friends throughout the county.

He was 63 years of age and is the last member of the once large Lytle family, of Half Moon township. He received his early education in that famous old institution of learning, the Pine Grove Academy, after which he taught in the schools of his township for a number of years. By profession he was a surveyor, later in life he turned his attention to farming which vocation he followed successfully until the time of his death.

He was a conscientious member of the Presbyterian church, also the William I. Farst post of Stormstown, having served his country faithfully as a soldier during the civil war. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

The funeral took place Sunday morning from the home at 9 o'clock. Interment in the Graysville cemetery.

Coleville Forging to the Front.

The Coleville Bible School, that was opened on the last Sabbath in February 1906 continues its forward movement with no indication of a retrograde even in stormy winter weather. Sunday afternoon there were 104 present including a goodly number of parents and all earnestly interested.

The 23rd Psalm was recited in concert, and a responsive temperance Scripture reading appropriate for the day, it being temperance Sunday. About thirty of the youngest scholars repeated from memory the two Shepherd texts, "He shall gather the lambs with his arms and carry them in his bosom," and "There shall be one fold and one Shepherd." The singing was really a hearty expression of praise.

The offerings collected by two of the boys were evidently cheerfully given and every thing done in an orderly manner. Missioner Crittenden had charge of the exercises and is to be congratulated for the success of this hopeful undertaking, helpfully supported by the good people of our suburban village.
